

RECOGNIZE OPPORTUNITY. REALIZE PROFIT.

Intraday Trader™

Stimulate activity with tailored trade-setups

Recognia Intraday Trader™ is a powerful investment research product that points active traders to well-suited trade-setups as they come into play throughout the trading day. Intraday Trader scanners hone in on stocks showing the trader's preferred indicators and chart patterns all lining up, which keeps the trader engaged with opportunities they're more likely to trade from.

With features like pre-defined trade-setups and default scanners, your account holders can start finding stocks in play from the moment they log on. And a selection of pre-defined and interpreted criteria along with educational tips makes it easy for traders of all skill levels to create a custom trade-setup that suits their own style and preferences.

Get traders to a decision faster

While chart pattern recognition is a central component of technical analysis, Intraday Trader lets traders automate multi-factor plays using their own criteria or those chosen from pre-defined trade-setups. Consequently, each notification is based on more thorough and targeted analysis; bringing the trader that much closer to making a decision.

Widen the trader's scope of analysis

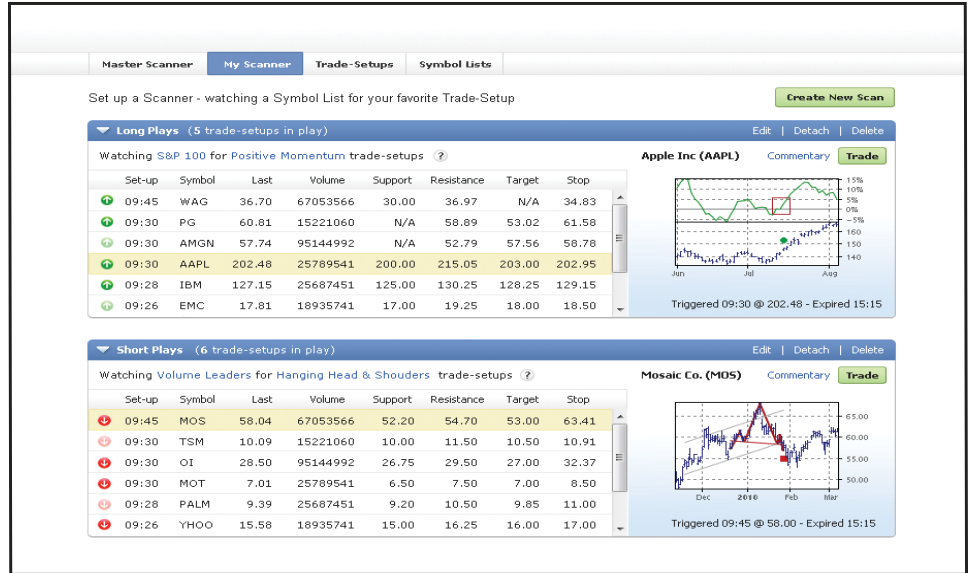

On their own, even the most active traders can follow only a limited number of instruments. With Recognia Intraday Trader and its continual analysis, the number of trade criteria and the number of instruments they can be applied to, increases dramatically.

Intraday Trader helps to remove the emotion from trading and can help your account-holders build a foundation of understanding leading to confidence, trading success and loyalty to your service.

“Intraday Trader is so powerful and so intuitive we say it’s like trading with a market technician over your shoulder. This product dispels the myth that employing technical analysis to everyday trading decisions is challenging or onerous.”

Stephen Ehrlich, CEO of Lightspeed Financial, Inc.

Build confidence and loyalty

Intraday Trader is about more than just stimulating activity. It provides your account holders with knowledge to understand what’s behind the analysis — to understand why certain factors are relevant or not relevant to their trading strategies. That’s why Intraday Trader includes in-context education on technical analysis trade criteria and on how to define trade-setups.
