Recognia Privacy Policy

September 2012

Recognia has created this privacy statement in order to demonstrate our firm commitment to privacy. Recognia does not sell, lend, nor distribute any member information to any third party.

The following discloses our information gathering and dissemination practices for this website.

We use your IP address to help diagnose problems with our server, and to administer our website. Your IP address is used to gather broad demographic information.

Our site uses cookies to facilitate use of the member's area and some services.

Our site's registration and inquiry forms require users to give us contact information (like their name and e-mail address). We only use this contact information (e-mail address) from completed forms to send the user information about releases, new features, important notices about our services, trials, or responses to inquiries. Users may opt-out of receiving future mailings at any time.

Recognia may gather contact information and statistics to enhance our web site services.

Recognia contains links to other sites. Recognia is not responsible for the privacy practices and/or the content of such websites. When visiting such sites, we urge you to be an informed surfer and use caution when providing any personal information.

Security

This site has security measures in place to protect the loss, misuse and alteration of the information under our control. These measures include secure servers, encrypted passwords, and other security measures to guarantee the privacy of our members.
