Recognia Market Newsletters deliver daily trade ideas through an e-newsletter format, allowing you to offer your clients unique trade ideas from emerging Technical Event® opportunities.

Support Account Acquisition

Recognia Market Newsletter is an effective prospecting tool for account acquisition. Offer a newsletter of daily trade ideas to prospects, capture lead information and encourage them to set up an account for further decision support. It can also be used as an excellent complement to other research; hyperlinks can be included in the news commentary, inviting readers to explore the tools on your site for additional analysis and research. All newsletters are completely branded for your organization.

Increase Activity and Confidence

Providing daily actionable trade ideas to account holders is essential. The newsletter is emailed to recipients each evening so they can decide, in advance, which trade ideas are best suited for them. The trade ideas can be integrated to other areas of your website to encourage further research and analysis, thus increasing confidence in their trading activity. "Trade" buttons can also be embedded into the newsletter, prompting the reader to take immediate action from the information received.

Introduce the Benefits of Technical Analysis

Recognia Market Newsletter content is based upon emerging chart patterns identified by Recognia's proprietary algorithms. All Technical Event opportunities in the newsletter can be clicked through to a full in-depth analysis of that particular pattern and the implications, furthering the readers' knowledge and comfort using technical analysis. Delivered in a familiar e-news commentary format, it offers investors an easy introduction to the benefits of leveraging technical analysis in their trade decisions.
